Filomena's Sunday Sauce

Day to Day life of the early immigrating Italians was very frugal and they ate pasta several times a week with a sauce of pure fresh tomatoes. But when Sunday arrived, they considered it a day of sharing with Friends & Family and to the tomato sauce was added Meatballs, Sausage, Ribs and sometimes Braciola (the pounded steak that was stuffed, rolled and tied in a bundle then cooked in the tomato sauce) even though meat was very expensive.

They called this their "Sunday Sauce".

Every day is a special day for our guests at Filomena and therefore we serve this rich and delicious "Sunday Sauce".
